RTS RESPECTING BATTLES ON THE POTOMAC. There is authority for stating, in reply to inquiries from istant points, that no battles have been recently fought distant points, that no battles have been recently fought in the neighborhood of the Potomac. If any had been fought reliable information would have been given by telegraph. The public are cautioned against false reports of battles, defeats, &c., put into circulation by stock speculators and designing individuals. Whenever there is any news of importance to the public on any matter relating to the war, it will be forwarded in an authentic eoial despatch to the Tribuse the other day does justice to the speech of this gentleman, and misstates the public sentiment here in regard to a looked upon by all conservative men as emoded States. As an evidence of this, over twenty ad copies of it were subscribed for on the floor in y minutes after it was delivered; and the names to the list embrace the leading Union men of the House He was also warmly congratulated at the close by the representatives from Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland, as well as by Northern conservative members generally.

The abolition element of the House was indignant, it is true; but its favor, we presume, Mr. Voorhees does not court. He has every reason to be gratified at the effect of his maiden effort.

The illustured effort of the Tribune, in its Washington despatches of Tuesday, to impugn the honesty of the Dierk of either the Senate or the House of Representatives, in reference to the amendment to the bill autho rizing the President to take possession of railroad and telegraph lines, was wanton and outrageous. The Tribuse correspondence intimates that the amendment was inserted while the bill was in course of transmission between the House and the Senate. The fact is that the record of the Senate's proceedings shows that the amendment was made in the Senate by Senator Wade' and agreed to by the Senato. The Tribune men should and agreed to y the senate. The Process men should dook more closely to the record, and not cast upon public officers a stigma of dishonesty when the error is attri-butable exclusively to their own want of observation.

COTTON SEED.
Some time ago the House passed a resolution autho rizing the purchasing and distributing of a certain amount of a specified kind of coston seed. The demand for this seed is now immense, and daily increasing. The amount authorized to be obtained and distributed has been procured, and is now being given out. People have actually come long distances to obtain this seed, and alkinds of influences are being brought into requisition sending to place portions of said seed in the possession of different individuals. This plainly shows that the cotton question has become one of great, if not national interest; and it also points toward the presumption that the Southern States will have (as soon as the rebellion is broken down) to enter into an extensive competition in the matter of the cultivation and selling of certain va.

POST OFFICE DEFARTMENT, 1

APPORTMENT OFFICE, Feb. 26, 1862. 5

Sir.—In order to prevent, as far as possible, losses of galuable letters mailed by soldiers in the various camps, this department recommends that each commander of a regiment, or a brigade, shall appoint a trustworthy agent, into whose hands all letters from soldiers containing valuable enclosures shall be placed, with prepayment by stamps, and the registering fee of five cents, it should be the duty of said agents to deliver such letters to a convenient post office daily, or as frequently as mails are sent from such office, with two lists, showing the name of each writer and the address of each letter. One list, with the letters and registering fee, should be placed in the hands of the postmaster or registering clerk who shall sign and return one copy, and file the other in his office, with the date when received. A failure to register increases the danger of loss. It is respectfully suggested that you take such order upon the proposition as the interests of the soldiers under your dommand shall require.

I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,
First Assistant Postmaster General.

THE CASE OF SENATOR STARKE, OF OREGON.

Mr. STARKE, (opp.) of Oregon, offered the following:—
Resolved, That the papers relative to the loyalty of Benjamin Starke, Senator from Oregon, bereferred to the Judiciary Committee, with instructions to investigate the charges on the evidence which has teen or may be presented.

Mr. HALE, (rep.) of N. H., objected to the resolution.

Mr. STARKE said that he presented the resolution himself because he would spare any friend of his what might be an ungracious office. Certainly he would not permit any one opposed to him to place himself in such a position. He (Mr. Starke) was anxious that any Senator who proposes to be the prosecutor of the charges implied in the papers brought here against him should have an opportunity afforded him. In presenting the resolution himself he did not wish to be considered as volunteering to be the prosecutor of himself. He availed himself of his opportunity to say that, relying on his own consciousness of loyalty and fidelity to the country, and yielding to no man in devotion to the constitution and the Union, and in veneration and reveronce for the flag of his country, he had hitherto refrained from entering into the question contained in these papers, preferring to stand on what he conceived to be his personal honor and the rights of his State. If any one wishes to prosecute the matter further he (Mr. Starke) would be most happy to meet him.

Mr. Hall as aid that he had no desire to prosecute. He and the rights of his State. If any one wishes to prosecute the matter further he (Mr. Starke) would be most happy to meet him.

Mr. Halk said that he had no desire to prosecute. He had acted from a sense of duty. He thought the question settled by the vote of the Senate yesterday, and he (Mr. Hale) should vote for the Senate yesterday, and he can be settled by the vote of the Senate yesterday, and the did not his seat, on the evidence now presented, no matter what the Judoiary Committee might report. He withdrew his objection to the resolution.

Mr. Schwar was very sorry for the vote of the Senate yesterday, and somebody seemed now to be seeking to remedy the matter. Was the evidence here uncontradicted? If it was true the Senator from Orgon (Mr. Starke) was a traitor, he (Mr. Sumner) was not surprised that the Senate was trying to retrace its steps, or that Senators were seeking to relieve themselves of the responsibility of their votes.

Mr. Fressenten, (rep.) of Me., did not like the language of the Senator from Massachusetts. He (Mr. Fessenden) was as ready to defend his action as was the Senator from Massachusetts to defend his. It would be time enough for the Senator (Mr. Sumner) had any right to lecture him or the majority of the Senate. He (Mr. Fessenden) was as ready to defend his action as was the Senator the responsibility of Senators older than himself when they show any deaire to avoid responsibility, and it would be long enough before he (Mr. Fessenden) would ask to do so.

Mr. Harris, (rep.) of N. Y., did not wish the matter referred to the Judiciary Committee, which had already

Mr. Harrs, (rep.) of N. Y., did not wish the matter referred to the Judiciary Committee, which had already expressed an opinion on the evidence before the Senate. He thought that the Senator from Oregon (Mr. Starke) had done all he could in the matter.

Mr. McDougazz, (opp.) of Cal., thought the question satisfactorily settled, and moved to lay the resolution on ished that the Senators sought to relieve themselves or responsibility.

Mr. Fassuner asked what evidence there was that any man sought to relieve himself?

Mr. Suners said that certain Senators were anxious that an inquiry should take place.

Mr. Baowning said he was in favor of further investigation, but not with any view to relieve himself from responsibility.

Mr. Harsis, (rep.) of N. Y., asked if he knew no senator anxious to relieve himself from responsibility.

Mr. HARRY, (rep.) or. Tr., asked it he knew ho Senator anxious to relieve himself from responsibility, why did he make any imputation?
Mr. Suxnem said he understood that but few went back to the responsibility of the Senate of the vote yestorday, when, according to his opinion, we opened the door of distorable.

when, according to his opinion, we opened the door of disloyalty.

Mr. Stanker asked if he meant to be understood to say that he was a disloyal man?

Mr. Stanker asked if he regarded the question of the loyalty of the Senator as at issue, but on the testimony, which was uncontradicede, he did regard him a disloyal man.

Mr. Stanker said that was not a correct answer.

Mr. Stanker said the had nothing to go by except the testimony. He knew mothing of the Senator's life or declarations cutside the testimony.

Mr. Stanker said he intended to sak the Senator if he did not mean he was a disloyal man, what he did mean when he said the doors of the Senate were opened to disloyalty.

THE LEGISLATIVE, ENECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL APPROPRIATION BILL.
On motion of Mr. FRESENDEN, the Executive and Legistive Appropriation bill was taken up.

FERSONAL EXPLANATION.

Mr. Wade, (rep.) of Ohio, said he wished to make an explanation. He referred to a paragraph in the New York Tribune relative to certain railroad legislation, and that certain words were put in the bill giving the government power to take possession of railroads, &c. He said he introduced that bill, and it was true the words complained of wore not in the original bill, but he introduced that amend.

The Senate then proceeded with the consideration of the Appropriation bill.

Several amendments from the Committee on Finance were adopted.

Soveral amendments from the Committee on Finance were adopted.

Mr. Sunwas offered an amendment to increase the salary of Capt. Schufelt, Consul General at Havana. Rejected, Mr. Genwas offered an amendment making an appropriation of $100,000 for building a jail in Washington.

Mr. Sunzakan opposed the amendment on the ground that the Corporation of Washington might build a jail, and have it under their charge. He was willing the government should bear part of the expense.

Messars. Gamms, Clark and Whaon spoke in favor of the amendment, denouncing the present jail as a disgrace to civilization. Adopted, Yeas 36; nays 7 (Messrs. Harris, Johnson, King, Lane of Indiana, Saulsbury, Sherman, Stark.)

Harris, Johnson, King, Labout Indian, Stark.)

An amendment was adopted dispensing with the office of General Recorder in the Land Office.

Mr. Harlan, (rep.) of lows, offered an amenment providing for an Assistant Secretary of the Interior. Adopted.

The bill then passed.

Mr. Blank, (rep.) of Mo., replied that the gentleman was totally misinformed.

Mr. Mallorax, (Union) of Ky., suggested that until a short time ago our armies had advanced only through loyal States. As they are now moving through the rebel States, it was necessary to provide forces for repairing the bridges and railroads injured by the enemy.

Mr. Wilson said no damages had been done greater than those to the Missouri railroads.

Mr. Divnx, (rep.) of N. Y., remarked that these companies themselves had made the repairs.

Other gentlemen took part in the debate.

Mr. Blank, of Mo., said as thus far the railroad question only had been discussed, he desired to submit a few words as to the merits of the bill. The corps proposed was essential to the army, and this could not be better illustrated than by the assertion of fact that these men have already been mustored into service without lawful authority, and have performed service. It was true that each brigade was to have ten companies of volunteer engineers, but the President need not go to this extent unless he should deem it necessary. In reply to a question as to whether any railroad was cowered up in the bill, Mr. Blair said he believed the idea existed only in imagination.

IN PHOTOGRAPHS

TO PERSONS WEITHOUGHAPHS OF THEMSELVES OF PHOTOGRAPHS OF THEMSELVES OF PHOTOGRAPHS

ANSON, 550 BROWN offers a new and great inducement to the public to patronze his old catallished Photographic Gallery, by proposing to give to each person wishing a photograph, without extra charge, the glass plate (or "negative"), from which the impressions are taken.

All the advantages of the above proposition cannot be conveniently enumerated, but a few hints will suffice to show how useful and independent it is to possess the plate from which the owner can, at will, have duplicates printed at ANSON'S or any other photographic establishment. The rule among the photographers is to hold themselves responsible for one year only for the plate on which is your likeness, and you may forget to note that the time is up and be compelled to have a new plate made at an extra expense. If you keep your own plate you can have no such care. You may wish to leave the city and remain abroad and be forced to correspond with an uncertainty and delay about getting new inpressions from the plate retained by any photographer. If you have, immediately, as only where there is civilization, you prize the expression, attitude or general excellence of a motograph once fortunately taken, and you may never be in such a mood again, so happy to trust. The photographer may fall in business, or fire may destroy the plate, and you may be left to sigh for a likeness so prized but now lost you forever.

A friend or relative may die, his or her plate may have been compass of a single newspaper, and you will have some idea of the SUNDAY MERCURY. The most perfect record of events ever gublished in the form of a public journal. It brings the world's news—whether conveyed by mail or telegraph, over land or over sea—up to your o'clook on Sunday morning. No other paper is kept topen to that hour, and whoever has the SUNDAY MERCURY on his or her breakfast table to-morrow morning may be certain of being its advance of rate surving reass or New York, as regards everything in the way of news obtainable from local sources or transmitted by the ordinary and extraordinary channels of information. It is needless to say that the arrangements for such as consummation involve a heavy outlay. But the end is attained. Examine to-morrow's SUNDAY MERCURY and say if it is not the GREATEST NEWS-PAPER out, and intrinsically worth the combined prices of all the so called newspapers published on that day. After reading its news columns, comprising everything its colomporaries do, and much that they do not, contain, turn to its literary and miscellaneous departments, and s87, honestly, if sevent and amount of matter of the right sort, was ever before published for rous GENTA.

THAT GREAT COMBINATION NEWSPAPER, THAT GREAT COMBINATION NEWSPAPER,

SUNDAY MERCURY,

Will present to-morrow a complete transcript of all the war news received by telegraph between noon on Saturday and four o'clock on Sunday morning. Bhould news of a great battle come over the wires after the hour at which the Sunday editions of all other journals go to press, the particulars, as far as the government may permit their disclosure, will be found among the special telegraphic despatches of the SUNDAY MERCURY. Whoever buys it, therefore, is likely to be full two hours shead of the readers of other pepers as regards war, intelligence. But this will only be a small pass of ting fails. The news of she city will be up to the same hour, and will be more full than in any other persons foreign, the reader will find a melange of original romanor, wit, humor, poetry, criticism, correspondence, and general literature, equal in amount, and it is believed, uperior is variety and interest, to the contents of any exclusively literary paper published in this country. Such will be the attraclions of

THE GREAT SUNDAY NEWSPAPER PIERCE EGAN'S LAST AND GREATEST BLUME, which was commenced in the VENDAY MERCURT of Sunday last, having completely exhausted the regular and extended synopsis of the opening chapters will appear in the SUNDAY MEE. CURY of to-morrow, thus enabling those who were disappointed in their efforts to obtain copies of the last issue, to make it will be succeeded by the first installment of PIERCE EGAN'S IMOGEN:

has been altogether usparalleled, and it. demand, FIFTEEN THOUSAND EXTRA COPIES of the SUNDAY MERCURY, in excess of the edition of the 23d ult, will be printed to-morrow. As the plot of the story is developed, it becomes more and more exciting. In fact, it is one of those romances which cannot be abandoned when is one of those romances which cannot be abandoned when once begun. What the author describes the reader seems to see, and the action of the story, and the scenes which it presents, are of such an enthraling character that the latter takes a deeper and deeper interest in it as he pursues the thread of the narrative until the excitement culminates in the closing chapters.

ATER INTELLIGENCE

Than appears in any other paper published on Sunday will be invariably found in the SUNDAY MERCURY. Its columns will uniformly be kept open until 4.A. It is alike a mental feast for the newsmonger, the politician, the scholar, the soldier, the man of leisure, the admirer of original wit and humor, the lover of sterling romance, and the general reader, who wishes to keep posted in relation to every current topic of the day at home and abroad. Never yet in the history of newspaper enterprise has such a paper, or anything approaching to it, been published at four cents. THE NE PLUS ULTRA

Among the live newspapers of the day, the SUNDAY MERCURY, with a circulation exceeding the combined issue of all its Sanday contemporaries stands alone. Look at its crowd-deciumns to-morrow, and you will find EVERYTHING THAT PASSES OVER THE LIGHTNING LINES that centre in this city, between twelve o'clock M, on Saurday, and four o'clock on Sunday morning. Examine its local department, and you will see New York reported in full up to that "untimely hour." Glance at its war correspondence from the various camps of the Union army, from our forces on the march, and from the garrisons "occupying and possessing" the forts lately held by the public enemy. Dip into its fire news, read its selections, luxuriate over its "Table Talk," and as a crowning pleasure, peruse the opening chap. its fire news, read its selectious, luxuriate over its "Table Talk," and as a crowning pleasure, peruse the opening chapters of "MOGEN, OR THE MARBLE HEART," written for its price to the price of the whole contents of the GREAT SUNDAY REWPAPER, take stock of its contemporaries, and then say it your transfer its price invested in any other way can produce an equal amount of current information on all topics of interesting liction and of exclusive intelligence.

A TRIBUTE FROM THE DAILY PRESS.

A The Daily Esgle, of Brooklyn, thus echees the opinion of the reading public on the merits of the SUNDAY MERCURY. The editor says:—

The Sunday Mercury is the only paper that unites the enterprising coaheadativeness of the daily paper with the literary features that distinguish the newspaper intended for Sunday reading. It contains news from all parts of the world up to an early hour on Sunday morning, and for the local news of Mauhattan and the islands thereto adjoining not a single item escapes. The people are not usually apt to be slow in finding out excellences, and it will surprise notody to learn that the Mercury has now a larger circulation than that of all its Sunday cotemporaries combined.

THE MARBLE HEART, is now being published in the co.u.m.s of the SUNDAY MARCURY, for which it was expressly written. This GREAT SUNDAY NEWSPAPER CHEET SUNDAY NEW

THE GREAT STORY OF THE DAY, INGGEN; OR, THE MARBLE HEART. PIERCE EGAN.

The edition of the SUNDAY MERCURY containing the initial chapters of this facinating romance having been exhausted to the last copy, a synopsis of them, embracing every incident necessary to the clear understanding of the opening of the plot, will appear in the SUNDAY MERCURY of to-morrow. A large demand was expected, and preparations were mails to meet it, but the rush for last Sunday's issue was overwhelming. This explanation is due to the thousamds who were disappointed in not obtaining copies. One of the great features of the SUNDAY MERCURY is its Local News. In thus department, it has no rival among its cutemporaries. Its telegraphic despatches from all parts of the other Sunday papers, from the fact that its columns remain open for the reception of intelligence two hours after they have gone to press.
